I. EDUCATION

I was born in Athens, Greece, in 1971. I studied history at the Department of History and Archaeology of the Aristotle University of Salonica and obtained a Ph.D. degree in Ottoman History, under the supervision of Prof. John Chr. Alexander, in 2000. My dissertation was entitled: «Χωρικοί και μοναχοί στην οθωμανική Χαλκιδική (15ος – 16ος αι.)» [Peasants and Monks in Ottoman Halkidiki (15th-16th c.)]. Brief Outline: A study of the social and economic position of peasants in the rural countryside between Salonica and Mount Athos under Ottoman administration (15th-16th c.), based on the Ottoman tahrir registers, with special reference to the role of the Mount Athos monasteries as landowners in the countryside (case study based on the Ottoman documents from the monastery of Xeropotamou).

I speak Greek, English, French, and Turkish. I am trained in Greek and Ottoman diplomatics and palaeography. I am specialised especially in the siyakat script in Ottoman palaeography.

II. TEACHING:

- I have been teaching Ottoman History at the Department of History and Archaeology of the University of Crete as a Lecturer (2001-2002, contract; 2005-2009), Assistant Professor (2009-2017), and now as an Associate Professor (2018-).
- I have taught Ottoman History as a visiting lecturer, at the Ecole Pratique des Hautes Etudes, Section des Sciences Historiques et Philologiques (Paris, France, January-February 2006, cf. Livret-Annuaire 21, Paris 2007, p. 71-73) and at the Department of History, Boğaziçi University (Istanbul, Turkey, April 2006).
- During the spring of 2009 (from March to May), during my sabbatical, I was appointed Visiting Research Scholar in the Program in Hellenic Studies of Princeton University in the United States of America.

III. RESEARCH:

- Since 2018, I am participating in the Palaeo-Science and History Research Group at the Max Planck Institute for the Science of Human History, Jena, exploring the ways in which history as a humanistic discipline converges with the environmental sciences that focus on the past.
- Since 2017, I am the academic supervisor, together with Panagiotis Poulos, of the research project of the French School in Athens, entitled "Histories, Spaces and Heritages at the Transition from the Ottoman Empire to the Greek State". The project explores the historical trajectories of urban space from the Ottoman Empire to the modern Greek State. The histories and/or 'stories' of this shifting urban space are studied in their intersensorial dimension, highlighting the dynamic interplay between materiality and its multifaceted conceptualizations.
- Since 2019, I am collaborating with my colleagues Şükrü Ilıcak and M. Shariat-Panahi in a research project of the Hellenic Open University concerning translating and publishing Ottoman imperial documents concerning the Greek Revolution of 1821.
- I am also participating in the "1821 Digital Archive" of the Greek Research Center of the Humanities.
- Since 2018, I am the academic supervisor of two of my doctoral students (Giorgos Vidras and Christos Kyriakopoulos) in the research project "The rural economy of Crete in the early modern centuries: a G.I.S. approach", implemented by the Institute for Mediterranean Studies of the Foundation of Research & Technology, Hellas
- Together with my doctoral student Euthimios Machairas I am participating in the research activity of the research network Does Monastic Economy Matter? Religious Patterns of Economic Behavior at the Centre for Advanced Study Sofia.

- Since 2018, I am collaborating with the Centre d'Études Turques, Ottomanes, Balkaniques et Centrasiatiques (CETOBaC, UMR 8032/ CNRS, EHESS, Collège de France) in the preparation of the catalogue of the archive of the Monastery of Saint John in the island of Patmos.
- As of 2019, together with my colleague Eleni Gara, we are participating, representing Greece, in the Cost Action CA18129 - Islamic Legacy: Narratives East, West, South, North of the Mediterranean (1350-1750).
- Since 2015 I participate in the Open Ottoman, a developing transnational digital collaborative for scholarship and public history focused on the Ottoman world, under the supervision of Prof. Amy Singer, a network which has started at the Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton, U.S.A.
- Between 2013-2015 I participated in the research project «Mines, Olives and Monasteries: Toward an Environmental Macrohistory of Halkidiki» of the International Hellenic University, under the supervision of Prof. V. Gounaris. See Basil G. Gounaris (ed.), Mines, Olives and Monasteries: Aspects of Halkidiki's Environmental History (Thessaloniki 2015)
- I have been participating in the research project “Translations of the Judicial Registers of the Ottoman Archive of Herakleio”, funded by the Vikelaia Municipal Library of Herakleio. I am involved in reading and translating Ottoman documents, as well as in editing.
- As a researcher in Ottoman History at the Institute for Mediterranean Studies of the Foundation of Research & Technology, Hellas (between October 2002 - October 2004), and a collaborator since then, I have been responsible for the “Database on Ottoman Crete” of the project “Digital Crete: Mediterranean Cultural Itineraries” of the Institute of Mediterranean Studies (Greek Operational Program “Information Society”, funded by the III European Community Support Framework for the years 2004-2008). The main aim of the project was to create a database of the settlements in Ottoman Crete, as well as a database of the Islamic monuments on the island, which has been updated on a regular basis (<http://digitalcrete.ims.forth.gr>). In the context of this project, I have published the study: « Monuments sans héritiers? Les édifices ottomans de Crète », Anatoli (CNRS Editions) 6 (2015) [=Dossier Thematique, επιμ. Μερopi Anastassiadou: Patrimoines culturels et fait minoritaire en Turquie et dans les Balkans], p. 237-254.
- In collaboration with the Institute for Mediterranean Studies, FO.R.T.H., and funding from the Kaireios Library, I have been running a research project concerning the insular society of Andros under Ottoman rule. I have published a catalogue of the Ottoman documents in the Kaireios Library of Andros, with commentary (2006). A database of the documents has been published through the web (<http://androsdocs.ims.forth.gr>). Recently (2017), I have published the Ottoman tax registers of Andros dated in 1670, with extended commentary.

- Between 2009-2010 I was the academic supervisor of a research project of the Institute of Mediterranean Studies, funded by the Prefecture of Leukada, which resulted in a publication of the “Ottoman Sources for the Early Modern History of Lefkada” (2013).
