

Palaeolithic Seminar

A joint initiative of the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens and the University of Crete (Departments of History and Archaeology), the Palaeolithic Seminar aims to bring Palaeolithic Archaeology closer to its specialist and wider audience. It aspires to become a forum where the results of recent work in the field and the latest theoretical trends within the discipline are presented and discussed.

Program 2016-17

November 29th 2016

Assoc. Professor Georgia Kourtessi-Philippakis, National and Kapodistrian University of Athens

The Middle Kalamas Archaeology Project, Thesprotia , Greece (2011-2015)

January 10th 2017

Dr. Preston Miracle, University of Cambridge

Prehistoric 'Becomings' in Croatia: Recent Fieldwork on the Island of Korcula

January 18th 2017

Professor Janusz K. Kozłowski, University Jagellon, Cracovia

The Middle/Upper Palaeolithic transition in the Northern Balkans and the Danubian Basin

February 23rd 2017

Professor Ivor Karavanić, University of Zagreb

Late Middle and early Upper Palaeolithic of Croatia in the context of Central and South Eastern Europe

March 16th 2017

Dr. Sylvie Beyries, Director, Centre National de Recherches Scientifiques, Nice

The Roc-aux-Sorciers shelter, a palaeolithic site and its exceptional sculptures

June 9th 2017

Dr. Paolo Biagi, University Ca' Foscari, Venezia

Professor Nikos Efstratiou, Aristote University of Thessalonica

Middle Paleolithic highland zone exploitation of the Northern Pindos of Western Macedonia

“I. Drakopoulos” amphitheatre

University of Athens central building, 30 Panepistimiou av.

19.00, admission free

Organisers:

Georgia Kourtessi-Philippakis, National and Kapodistrian University of Athens

Nena Galanidou, University of Crete